

Technology Letter to Parents & Students...

Dear Students and Parents,

We are excited to let you know about a wonderful opportunity. All members of our school community, students, parents, and teachers, can access an on-line service called Atomic Learning. This service, purchased by Sierra Middle School, offers video tutorials about literally anything having to do with technology and software packages. You can learn about digital photography, Microsoft Word, email and many, many other technology related topics.

I encourage you to take a few minutes to visit this web site and see the wonderful opportunity presented for our school community. Please let us know if you have any questions or need any additional information.

More About "AL"...

Atomic Learning, is an online resource for software training. It's available to our students and their families in school and at home throughout the school year. All you need is an Internet connection and a computer with the free QuickTime plug-in installed.

Atomic Learning's "just-in-time" approach to software training focuses on answering the common questions encountered when learning and using software. Need to know how to cut and paste in Word? Is your child making a PowerPoint presentation and looking for help? Need to type a formula in Microsoft Excel? Go to atomiclearning.com and type in your question. An answer will be provided in the form of a narrated movie that shows you step-by-step how to accomplish the task.

Atomic Learning features more than 10,000 tutorial movies on over 45 of the most common software applications. In addition, an average of 300 movies are added every month.

Our school is dedicated to providing the highest quality technology resources available. Just ask "AL", your child's new technology tutor. He is available 24/7!
